

R134a available in two cool flavours, at great prices

In July 2007 the F-Gas legislation banned the production of disposable R134a refrigerant cylinders commonly used in automotive aftercare to service air conditioning.

As the UK's largest supplier of gases, BOC are one of the few companies with the operational and logistical capability to supply R134a in refillable returnable cylinders nationally.

- R134a and R134aUV refillable cylinders in a range of sizes
- Available for either delivery or collection
- The perfect complement to your cutting and welding gases from BOC
